* Indicates Interstate Designer or Certifier

Full details of the Water and sewerage accreditation guidelines \(powerwater.com.au\)

Power and Water Corporation evaluates existing and potential designers, certifiers and constructors capabilities using the following measures:

- Demonstration by the designers, certifiers and constructors of understanding, commitment and capability to fulfil Power and Water's requirements in respect of the project, work, or an order
- Past experience of the designers, certifiers and constructors ability to design and/or construct or maintain assets that meets or exceeds the specification, at or better than the required quality, and where appropriate, within the specified time and at the agreed price
- Any special qualifications required by Power and Water, such as licences, special authorisations, training courses, and the like.

Using the above measures, each individual is rated as follows:

- I = Interim accreditation
- A = Acceptable accreditation
- P = Preferred accreditation
- E = Excluded from accreditation

Developers/proponents are only to utilise those classified as Preferred, Acceptable or Interim.

Professional conduct

Those holding accreditation are required to interact with Power and Water and all others involved in gifted assets process professionally. This includes performing duties with skill, impartiality, professionalism and integrity and exercising courtesy, consideration and sensitivity and acting with fairness and equity in all dealings. Unprofessional conduct may result in exclusion from accreditation.

Accreditation categories

The below table defines when a certifier is required and when standard drawings and licensed plumber can be used and the qualifications required for each category. Power and Water, in line with many other jurisdictions, does not allow the same person to carry out the certification if they are also involved in the construction of the works, in categories where a certifier is required.
